Truman Shuns Stand On '48 Nomination, Puts Politics Aside

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP) — President Truman, asked whether he will run again in 1948, reiterated today that he intends to continue to "act as agent of the American people, without regard to my personal political fortunes."

He thus left unanswered a question which most Democratic party leaders have regarded for some time as settled — that he will be the nominee of the Democrats in 1948.

The President was ready for the inevitable at his news conference in view of national Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan's New York speech the past Thursday night which Hannegan said formally put Mr. Truman's hat in the ring.

Mr. Truman smiled and said he had expected such a question when Bert Andrews, of the New York Herald Tribune asked:

"Are you going to accept Mr. Hannegan's nomination in 1948?"

The President then read a formal statement saying:

"In view of certain comment regarding the presidency, I wish to say that there has been no change in my attitude since the statement I read to you on Nov. 11, 1946.

"The presidency being conducted now just as it was then. It will continue to be so conducted. That is to say, I intend to continue to act in this office as the agent of the American people, without regard to my personal political fortunes."

"I repeat what I said on Nov. 11 when I pledged the executive to cooperate in every proper manner with the Congress."

"As President of the United States I am guided by a simple formula: to do in all cases, from

U.S. Coal Is Offered By President to Aid Britain in Crisis

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP) — President Truman volunteered American coal today to a Britain shivering in the grip of an economic crisis.

He directed officials to see how much American coal now at sea bound for other European countries could be diverted to Britain, and quickly—if the British want it.

No request has been received from England for aid in the crisis, Mr. Truman said. And it appeared unlikely the British would wish to spend their dwindling dollar credits for coal except as a last resort.

The White House announcement mentioned no plan for payment if the British accept the offer, but the coal apparently could not be donated without legislative authorization.

"It would take a minimum of 15 days to ship coal from this country to England," Mr. Truman said in a statement. "Such shipments might very well arrive too late to help England in the present emergency."

"There are, however, a number of colliers at sea in the vicinity of the British Isles carrying coal to other European countries. It may be possible to divert some of these colliers to English ports."

"It is understood, of course, that coal diverted from other countries would be made up as rapidly as shipping schedules can be readjusted."

Mr. Truman cited growth of coal exports in recent months as indicative of what the United States might do to help. He said that in December 1,800,000 tons were shipped abroad and that this had increased to 2,500,000 tons in January. He forecast total exports of 2,900,000 for the short month of February and said that in March "we hope to do even better."

Mystery Surrounds County Woman's Death

NORRISTOWN, Feb. 13 (AP) — A 31-year-old mother of two children died in Sacred Heart hospital today, four days after she was admitted with head and other injuries.

Mrs. Theresa Mosokowski was hurt in a fall from a fire escape at her Conshohocken home, Assistant District Attorney Alexander Knight said her husband, Walter, 2, told him.

Mosokowski is now at liberty under $1000 bail after a warrant charging with assault and battery was obtained by his wife's mother, Mrs. Agnes O'Barra.

Knight said a post mortem will be made to determine what caused the woman's death.

Truman Pledges Last-Ditch Fight To Support Lilienthal Nomination

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP) — Senate Republican Leader White of Maine came out against David E. Lilienthal tonight even as President Truman announced he will back his nomination to head the atomic energy commission to the last ditch.

The twin declarations mean a bitter battle when and if the nomination reaches the floor from the Senate atomic committee which is conducting hearings.

Mr. Truman told his news conference he considers Lilienthal fully and thoroughly equipped for the important chairmanship and that he will stay with him straight through — meaning that the nomination will not be withdrawn.

The department considers such material to be personal to Mr. Morgenstern," Snyder said. Shortly before he left office, Mr. (Continued on Page Eight)

Weatherman's Heart Is Big as a Valentine

The cockles of the heart, a remote and difficult part of the anatomy to warm, glowed in most Pottonians yesterday.

It was the eve of Valentine's Day and it was 46 degrees above zero for two whole hours.

The combination was enough to make a susceptible heart twang like a broken banjo string.

From 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock the mercury stood at a Florida-like 46 after rising from 24 early in the morning.

The weatherman's prediction for today was a heavy dose of the same love tonic: "mostly sunny and warmer."

Two Recovering From Injuries Received At Dark, Unregulated Intersection Here

Two persons were in varying stages of recovery last night after having been struck by automobiles in a two-day period at the dimly-lighted intersection of High and Evans streets, unguarded by any traffic light.

The answer pointed out that work in the plant is on an incentive or piece-work basis, and that therefore wage rates are adjusted to compensate for smoking and resting periods. It also

Mr. Anna Krause, of 361 South street, knocked down 48 hours later at the same crossing, said she was feeling well except for an occasional twinge in the stomach where the fender of the car struck her.

In her case also, neither pedestrian nor motorist saw each other until it was too late for even jammed brakes to save her from being hurt.

At the busy crossing, the pedestrian wishing to traverse High street must advance beyond the line of diagonally parked cars on either side of the street in order to see if traffic is approaching.

Lurking in the shadows waiting for an opportunity to cross the street the pedestrian is almost invisible to oncoming cars.

Traffic rarely slows down for the Evans street intersection.

One of the four new traffic signals, on which Borough Manager Dow L. Sears has asked bids will be placed at the corner.

Driver Escapes Uninjured When Meat Truck Avoids Collision, Turns Over at Sanatoga

Fate took a hand in the life of Fred M. Hinkle, Reading, yesterday, and when he avoided one accident on Sanatoga hill, propelled him into another. And he came off without a scratch.

Hinkle was driving a loaded refrigerator truck east down Sanatoga hill when he saw a truck driven by James Gage, Philadelphia, coming in the opposite direction swing out of line and pass a third truck on the hill.

Swoerving his truck to the right to avoid a head-on collision, Hinkle hit the soft shoulder of the road and turned over.

The fully-loaded truck narrowly missed the home of C. W. Moyer on the hill. It tore up his mail box, plowed through some bushes in front of the house and smashed into a telephone pole, completely wrecking itself.

A passing motorist took Hinkle to the Homeopathic hospital where it was found that he did not have a scratch on him and he was released immediately.

Ironically enough, State police repaired he broken wires, but the pole, which is bent and cracked, will be replaced later.

The organization's charter will be open until April 10. A class of candidates will be taken into the lodge sometime in May, it was announced.

John Kass, president, presided, and 30 members attended.

Veteran Admits Killing Soldier in 1944; Convicted Man Serving Life Sentence

PRESO, Calif., Feb. 13 (AP)—Breaking a 32-month silence, a 25-year-old locomotive fireman was in custody today after voluntarily telling officers that he had killed a soldier in 1944, and that another man was serving a life term in prison for the crime.

Detective Sgt. S. G. Vind said Otto Charles Stockdale, Fresno, surrendered yesterday and related the story.

FBI agents are investigating the story which, if proved, would free former Army Pvt. A. B. Riche Hickory, N.C., who is serving a life sentence at Leavenworth, Kas., for the killing of Corp. Pete Defusco, Uniontown, Pa., near Camp Phillips, Salina, Kas., in June, 1944.

Riche, originally condemned to death by an Army court-martial, was given a general commutation to life imprisonment.

Stockdale was booked for failure to possess a draft card pending investigation.

Vind said Stockdale related that the killing occurred after a drunken argument and that when he believed Defusco was dead, he took $1,065 which he had only $39 the day before he left Salina. Then, said Riche, told them Defusco had given him the money to buy gambling equipment.

Stockdale said his conscience never bothered him when he learned Riche had been convicted because "I don't know the guy."

"It was just one of those things," Vind quoted Stockdale. "I stole a jeep from the camp motor pool and drove it out of the camp and bought a fifth of whisky. I got a little tanked up and drove back into the camp and picked up this soldier (Defusco). When I offered him a drink he said 'sure.'

"We drove around and found a place where we wouldn't be bothered. I don't remember everything that happened but we got to arguing. He didn't like the brand of whisky I'd bought so I hit him. Well, then he seemed to be dead."

Vind said Stockdale appeared worried, asking "What do you think they will give me?" after repeating his story of the killing.

In Hickory, attorney John C. Scrope, who represented Riche in successfully appealing from the death sentence, said he would ask President Truman for a full pardon for his client.

Riche did not testify at his court-martial. He was arrested at Presque Isle after accompanying Defusco's SOC to Uniontown. FBI agents testified Riche then had $2,665 which he had only $39 the day before he left Salina. Then, said Riche, told them Defusco had given him the money to buy gambling equipment.

Hate Group Stored Private Arsenal, Atlanta Court Told

ATLANTA, Feb. 13 (AP)—A former member of the Anti-Negro, Anti-Jewish Columbians, Inc., testified in Superior (Circuit) court today that the organization maintained a private arsenal to arm its strong-arm squads.

Roy Whitman, who identified himself as one-time "section leader," told of receiving orders for armed patrols from Homer Loomis Jr., executive secretary, who is being tried for incitement to riot in connection with a gang-attack on Negro walking through a white residential section.

The State rested its case at conclusion of the third day of the trial. Homer Loomis Sr., New York admiralty attorney who is defending his son, said he expected to take approximately the same length of time for the defense.

Whitman said pistols and other weapons were issued to Columbian patrols by Loomis, and were provided from a private arsenal by Ira Jeffer, a charter member of the hate group. Whitman said on one occasion, when Col. Loomis investigated reported rape of a white woman by a Negro, a group of about 20 was armed with shotguns, rifles and automatic pistols.

The prosecutor offered police evidence that no rape or attempted rape actually had taken place.

Whitman said the brown-shirted Columbians followed the "leader," Loomis, with Loomis and Columbian President Emory Burle, among others, as section leaders. No transmission to block leaders. Whitman said the purpose of the Columbians was "white supremacy" and "to keep the Negroes from moving in on white sections."

Ralph Childers, youthful Columbian who was decorated with the order's "medal of honor" after the blackfacing of an unarmed Negro, testified that Loomis provided guns "every time we went on patrol."

In Hickory, attorney John C. Stroupe, who represented Richie in successfully appealing from the death sentence, said he would ask President Truman for a full pardon for his client.

Richie did not testify at his court-martial. He was arrested at Pittsburgh after accompanying Defusco's body to Untonontown. FBI agents testified Richie then had $1665 although he had only $180 the day before he left Salina. They said Richie told them Defusco had given him the money to buy gambling equipment.

Stockdale said his conscience never bothered him when he learned Richie had been convicted because "I didn't know the guy."

"It was just one of those things," Vind quoted Stockdale. "I stole a jeep from the camp motor pool and drove it out of the camp and bought a fifth of whisky. I got a little tanked up and drove back into the camp and picked up this soldier (Defusco). When I offered him a drink he said 'sure.'

We drove around and found a place where we wouldn't be bothered.

"I don't remember everything that happened but we got to arguing. He didn't like the brand of whisky I'd bought so I hit him."

"Well, then he seemed to be dead."

Vind said Stockdale appeared worried, asking "What do you think they will give me?" after repeating his story of the killing.

Attend Dinner of Cub Scout Pack

The Blue and Gold dinner, an annual affair for cub scouts, was held last night by Cub Pack 62, of First Methodist church, and was attended by district officials of the Continental district, Boy Scouts of America.

Harry Shellenberger, assistant district commissioner, reviewed the history of the pack. It was started in November, 1945, and now boasts six dens and 45 members.

Robert Borneman, district executive, also addressed the group on cubbing and what it does for the boy. The Rev. Horace N. Oewiler, pastor, welcomed those present at the beginning of the covered dish dinner.

The six den mothers were each presented with a red rose in token of their service to the pack. William White, chairman of the pack committee, made the award. In response, Mrs. Kenneth Fullam read a poem.

A harmonica solo was rendered by Gordon Smitsky.

Merrill Umstead, cubmaster, was in charge of the affair held in the social room of the church. Harold Lachman, assistant cubmaster, read a poem on the average boy. The committee which arranged for the dinner was headed by Mrs. Paul Mogel.

Put a Cop There

IN LESS than 48 hours, two middle-aged persons were struck by automobiles at High and Evans streets.

The first, a man, was hit at 7:40 o'clock Monday night. He was tossed 15 feet and landed solidly on the cement pavement.

The second, a woman, was struck Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock. She was hurled violently to the street.

Fortunately, neither was seriously hurt. But the shocks were terrific to the aging pedestrians. There's no telling what after-effects there may be on brittle bones, weakened organs.

That intersection at High and Evans streets is one of the most dangerous in Pottstown.

It is unguarded by lights. It is unwatched by police.

Stop signs are ignored by a majority of motorists. The signs are ignored because of the heavy High street parking which requires a motorist to stick his auto's nose far out into High street to ascertain if traffic is approaching.

The corner is dark. It is shaded by trees.

Too often traffic law violators add to the danger by parking their cars illegally too close to the corner.

Plans are now afoot to buy and erect traffic lights at that corner.

It is true that Pottstown councilmen have talked about a traffic light there for more than ten years. Traffic experts have urged pedestrian protection there. But the war and other factors interfered.

But now Borough Manager Dow L. Sears has seized time by the forelock and asked for bids on lights and installation. This was the first action of 1947 by Councilman Leo F. Spaar and his police committee — a commendable move by the new committee head.

If there no hitches in the well-laid plans of Messrs. Sears and Spaar, those lights should be controlling traffic this summer.

BUT WHAT OF PROTECTION FOR PEDESTRIANS AND VEHICULAR TRAFFIC UNTIL THAT TIME?

Isn't it the duty of the police department to provide adequate protection to the citizenry?

Isn't it the police department's job to guard life and limb?

This injury of pedestrians at that unguarded corner MUST CEASE!

It must cease even if police guard that corner 24 hours a day!

THIS IS IMPERATIVE Police Chairman Spaar and Burgess William A. Griffith should order traffic policemen there today — and every day! The cry that the police force is too small MUST BE IGNORED.

Let Pottstown have protection at that dangerous corner NOW before someone is killed!

Valettines: An Old Custom

IF YOU find it difficult to say "Will you be my valentine?" in suitably romantic words, you can take comfort from knowing that the history of St. Valentine's day has been a troubled one for all its 2000 years.

The very origin of this sweetheart's holiday is disputed between Christian and pagan accounts. Almost the only agreement seems to be that rites to which we can trace our modern St. Valentine's day customs were popular among the Romans at about the beginning of the Christian era. The date is believed based on the fact that birds, according to the oracles of Rome, began their mating on Feb. 14.

Then the conflicts begin. The official Roman observance included a "blind date" ceremony in which maidens placed their names into an urn in a public place, and from this the less shy young men drew "lots" to discover their sweethearts. While the budding church frowned upon this pagan practice, it could not deny romance. So the church, in turn, dedicated Feb. 14 to St. Valentine, who patronized lovers.

Among other early valentine stories is the legend that St. Valentine, a young priest, was thrown into a dungeon at Rome because he performed secret marriages in defiance of Emperor Claudius. It seems Claudius had forbidden marriage and even engagements because too many Romans preferred to remain with their wives or sweethearts, making it almost impossible to enlist enough warriors for legions marching out to the battlefields.

By the 15th century, when valentine legends had spread to England, lovers in that country added the practice of sending messages to the objects of their secret or forbidden affection. Often delivery was made by tying a fancy lace valentine to an apple or other fruit and tossing it through an open window of the loved ones home.

America's contributions include the general substitution of paper for real lace and the popularity of comic valentines, many with cruel or sarcastic messages.

Today's bobby soxers seem to be drifting back to the gracious gadding days of the 19th century for their valentine inspiration, according to the greeting card industry's information bureau, which looks at love with a cold statistical stare. Whatever the clashes of law and economics or changes in fashion, however, valentines are a mirror of their times. In spite of the rise of sentimentalism, it is pretty sure that many sweethearts will find expression of their 1947 romance designed into very timely "atomic" valentines, for that is the power of love.

The Wise Boys

WASHINGTON, where the wise boys feared deflation in the Fall of 1945; crawled under the covers to escape the sight of inflation during 1946; howled their heads off at rising prices after OPA went by the board; now looks forward with dread to falling prices during 1947.

Editorial 'One of Finest'

To the Editor: This morning's editorial on evaluation of assessments is one of the finest presentations of straight thinking and good common sense in plain English that I've ever read in any newspaper.

It is high time that some of our townsmen realize that there is no Santa Claus who free of charge will give us good schools and good teachers, good streets and proper lighting, good police and fire protection and the many other communal needs.

Any good map shows why Canada and this country stand together in an age of long distance super-weapons.

Although nothing very new was in this announcement, the arrangement has existed since 1940 both countries feel it advisable to point out that it would further, rather than conflict with, the principles of the United Nations.

Moscow may criticize, but it is also possible that Moscow may derive some comfort from the plan. For instance, it recognizes that such an important thing as standardization of arms will have to take place gradually and not under forced draft as some have proposed.

While it emphasizes co-operation in studying arctic military problems, the Russians have been working on these since they got badly frost-bitten in the Finnish war of 1939 and probably are far ahead of us.

Unofficial comment in this country generally has predicted that the Russians would see the agreement as a sort of military alliance against them. As to that, they already know how Canada and this country are being co-operating in various Arctic expeditions to learn how much their armies don't know about operating in very cold weather. Now that that arrangement has been extended, it may or may not provide Soviet critics with grist for their mill.

They may be more interested in the timing of the announcement. Apparently by accident — no one has said — it came on the same day that Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko withdrew his veto in the United Nations Security Council. His doing so permitted the historic creation of a committee on disarmament which will be separate from the committee on atomic control.

Gromyko had insisted that the two problems be handled together.

His concession means that the U. N. is to follow American rather than Russian ideas about how to disarm and control atomic energy.

As the Canadian-American agreement is hardly a disarmament measure yet — Moscow may wonder just how much powder we figure on keeping dry.

Moscow has shown that she is no slouch when it comes to keeping her own powder dry.

The Worry Clinic

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

LAWRENCE G., 29, is a brilliant clergyman in a city church.

"Dr. Crane, I've appreciated your psychology column," he began, "and I want to say that clergymen certainly need psychology, for they have one of the most complicated tasks on earth."

"Let me mention a few of my own problems. I have a temperamental choir leader. Then there is the misunderstood young wife of an elderly banker. She is more interested in me than in Christianity, so I must astutely steer clear of her except when surrounded by crowds."

"Several elderly men have held their special positions in the church for so many years, they now feel they own the building. If the Boy Scouts are to meet in our parish house, therefore, these old men must be handled diplomatically."

"In my sermon I must appear intellectual enough to satisfy the college graduates, yet keep the interest of children and those adults who can barely read the newspaper."

"I must visit the sick, comfort the dying, avoid playing favorites among the parishioners, yet make some of my society leaders feel I am partial to them."

"I must give two addresses each week, and often more. At any unexpected moment I must be ready to step in and salvage a meeting that is dragging."

"If Hollywood actors think their lives are public property, let them consider the duties of a modern clergyman. Don't you agree, Dr. Crane?"

I most certainly do! Lawrence has scarcely started to mention the demands which we place upon clergymen. We pay them very modest salaries on which they must dress to mingle in the best society. On which they must subscribe to magazines and buy books in order to keep up to date in their sermons; feed and clothe their families; buy schoolbooks and pay insurance premiums.

We expect them to make calls in all parts of the city or countryside, using up gasoline and tires for our benefit, yet they rarely receive a 'car allowance.' In the middle of the night they must rush to a hospital or home where somebody is ill or dying.

Their doorkbells ring at all hours with appeals from persons who have no jobs, or no place to spend the night. Their wives and children are under the scrutiny of all the parishioners. Any flaw detected in a clergyman or his family becomes magnified abnormally.

His working day, doesn't end at 5 p.m. He is on call like a physician, 24 hours a day. Regardless of his health or feelings, he must smile and carry on. And his wife must do the same.

He cannot unbend and act frivolous lest some dignified parishioner see him and think his behavior unseemly. If he caters to the oldest members of his church, the young people think he is too stiff and formal.

And the clergymen also serve as the local psychologists, helping relieve worries, fears, and wrong thinking. They are true mental hygienists.

He hasn't been "all right," however, in the eyes of the gambling, juke-box and bookmaking element. When he recently appeared at a prize fight, he was booted by the galleries until the demonstration actually disgusted his enemies.

Now, the so-called sporting element in the Twin Cities usually supported Stassen in his gubernatorial campaigns. They were counted on to come through with large contributions to his present effort.

But they are holding it against Harold that he foisted Governor Youngdahl on them. Although Minnesota produced Andrew Volstead, Norsemens etc not professional reformers.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

U. S., Canada Continue Co-operative Defense

By JAMES D. WHITE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

CANADA and the United States have announced jointly that they will help each other keep defense power dry in the North American hemisphere.

They have been doing this right along, and will continue. Neither power is putting it into a treaty or executive agreement. That would mean fuss and talk, and besides isn't necessary.

Any good map shows why Canada and this country stand together in an age of long distance super-weapons.

Although nothing very new was in this announcement, the arrangement has existed since 1940 both countries feel it advisable to point out that it would further, rather than conflict with, the principles of the United Nations.

This is high time that some of our townsmen realize that there is no Santa Claus who free of charge will give us good schools and good teachers, good streets and proper lighting, good police and fire protection and the many other communal needs.

Moscow may criticize, but it is also possible that Moscow may derive some comfort from the plan. For instance, it recognizes that such an important thing as standardization of arms will have to take place gradually and not under forced draft as some have proposed.

While it emphasizes co-operation in studying arctic military problems, the Russians have been working on these since they got badly frost-bitten in the Finnish war of 1939 and probably are far ahead of us.

Unofficial comment in this country generally has predicted that the Russians would see the agreement as a sort of military alliance against them. As to that, they already know how Canada and this country are being co-operating in various Arctic expeditions to learn how much their armies don't know about operating in very cold weather. Now that that arrangement has been extended, it may or may not provide Soviet critics with grist for their mill.

They may be more interested in the timing of the announcement. Apparently by accident — no one has said — it came on the same day that Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko withdrew his veto in the United Nations Security Council.

His concession means that the U. N. is to follow American rather than Russian ideas about how to disarm and control atomic energy.

As the Canadian-American agreement is hardly a disarmament measure yet — Moscow may wonder just how much powder we figure on keeping dry.

Moscow has shown that she is no slouch when it comes to keeping her own powder dry.

Editorial 'One of Finest'

To the Editor: This morning's editorial on the assessment of assessments is one of the finest presentations of straight thinking and good common sense in plain English that I've ever read in any newspaper.

It is high time that some of our townsmen realize that there is no Santa Claus who free of charge will give us good schools and good teachers, good streets and proper lighting, good police and fire protection and the many other components of the United Nations.

This — together with the Canadian Prime Minister's denial that the U. S. had asked for any Canadian bases — appears directed at forestalling possible Soviet Russian criticism.

Moscow may criticize, but it is also possible that Moscow may derive some comfort from the plan. For instance, it recognizes that such an important thing as standardization of arms will have to take place gradually and not under forced draft as some have proposed.

While it emphasizes co-operation in studying arctic military problems, the Russians have been working on these since they got badly frost-bitten in the Finnish war of 1939 and probably are far ahead of us.

Unofficial comment in this country generally has predicted that the Russians would see the agreement as a sort of military alliance against them. As to that, they already know how Canada and this country have been collaborating in various Arctic expeditions to learn how much their armies don't know about operating in very cold weather. Now that this arrangement has been extended, it may or may not provide Soviet critics with grist for their mill.

They may be more interested in the timing of the announcement. Apparently by accident — no one has said — it came on the same day that Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko withheld his veto fire in the United Nations Security Council. His doing so permitted the historic creation of a committee on disarmament which will be separate from the committee on atomic control.

Gromyko had insisted that the two problems be handled together.

His concession means that the U. N. is to follow American rather than Russian ideas about how to disarm and control atomic energy.

As the Canadian-American agreement is hardly a disarmament measure — yet — Moscow may wonder just how much powder we figure on keeping dry.

Moscow has shown that she is no slouch when it comes to keeping her own powder dry.

Plans are now afoot to buy and erect traffic lights at that corner.

It is true that Pottstown councilmen have talked about a traffic light there for more than ten years. Traffic experts have urged pedestrian protection there. But the war and other factors interfered.

But now Borough Manager Dow I. Sears has seized time by the forelock and asked for bids on lights and installation. This was the first action of 1947 by Councilman Leo F. Spaar and his police committee — a commendable move by the new committee head.

If there're no hitches in the well-laid plans of Messrs. Sears and Spaar, those lights should be controlling traffic this Summer.

BUT WHAT OF PROTECTION FOR PEDESTRIANS AND VEHICULAR TRAFFIC UNTIL THAT TIME?

Isn't it the duty of the police department to provide adequate protection to the citizenry?

Isn't it the police department's job to guard life and limb?

This injury of pedestrians at that unguarded corner MUST CEASE!

It must cease even if police guard that corner 24 hours a day!

THIS IS IMPERATIVE. Police Chairman Spaar and Burgess William A. Griffith should order traffic policemen there today — and every day! The cry that the police force is too small MUST BE IGNORED.

Let Pottstown have protection at that dangerous corner NOW before someone is killed!

Valetines: An Old Custom

IF YOU find it difficult to say "Will you be my valentine?" in suitably romantic words, you can take comfort from knowing that the history of St. Valentine's day has been a troubled one for all its 2000 years.

The very origin of this sweetheart's holiday is disputed between Christian and pagan accounts. Almost the only agreement seems to be that rites to which we can trace our modern St. Valentine's day custom were popular among the Romans at about the beginning of the Christian era. The date is believed based on the fact that birds, according to the oracles of Rome, began their mating on Feb. 14.

Then the conflicts begin. The official Roman observance included a "blind date" ceremony in which maidens placed their names into an urn in a public place, and from this the less shy young men drew "lots" to discover their sweethearts. While the budding church frowned upon this pagan practice, it could not deny romance. So the church, in turn, dedicated Feb. 14 to St. Valentine, who patronized lovers.

Among other early valentine stories is the legend that St. Valentine, a young priest, was thrown into a dungeon at Rome because he performed secret marriages in defiance of Emperor Claudius. It seems Claudius had forbidden marriages and even engagements because too many Romans preferred to remain with their wives or sweethearts, making it almost impossible to enlist enough warriors for legions marching out to the battlefields.

By the 14th century, when valentine legends had spread to England, lovers in that country added the practice of sending messages to the objects of their secret or forbidden affection. Often delivery was made by tying a fancy lace valentine to an apple or other fruit and tossing it through an open window of the loved one's home.

America's contributions include the general substitution of paper for real lace and the popularizing of comic valentines, many with cruel or sarcastic messages.

Today's booby boxers seem to be drifting back to the gracious gaslight days of the 19th century for their valentine inspiration, according to the greeting card industry's information bureau, which looks at low with a cold statistical stare. Whatever the clashes of law and economics or changes in fashion, however, valentines are a mirror of their times. In spite of the rise of sentimentalism, it is pretty sure that many sweethearts will find expression of their 1947 romance designed into very timely "atomic" valentines, for that is the power of love.

The Wise Boys

WASHINGTON, where the wise boys feared deflation in the Fall of 1945, crawled under the covers to escape the sight of inflation during 1946; howled their heads off at rising prices after OPA went by the board; now looks forward with dread to falling prices during 1947.

Now, the so-called sporting element in the Twin Cities usually supported Stassen in his gubernatorial campaigns. They were counted on to come through with large contributions to his present effort.

But they are holding it against Harold that he foisted Governor Youngdahl on them. Although Minnesota produced Andrew Volstead, Norsemens are not professional reformers.

He hasn't been "all right," however, in the eyes of the gambling, juke-box and bookmaking element. When he recently appeared at a prize fight, he was booted by the galleries until the demonstration actually disgusted his enemies.

Although he simply denounced sin and juvenile delinquency when he ran for office, the sporting element grew uneasy. If he caters to the oldest members of his church, the young people think he is too stiff and formal.

Patriotism Is Theme Of Grange's Program

The North Coventry Grange members witnessed a patriotic program last night the features of which were a talk by James Walker, of the Malvern grange, and a skit entitled "America's Fight for Freedom."

Informed of the President's comments, Senator McClellan (D-Tenn.), who has made the "Communism" charge against Lillenthal commented:

"The record speaks for itself. That's all I care to say now."

White was the second high Republican senate official to come out flatly against Lillenthal. Senator Wherry (Neb.), the party whiphugger, rejected of his confirmation several days ago.

In addition, friends of Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Republican policy committee, said he has told them he would vote against Lillenthal.

PAY BOOST GRANTED

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13 (P)—A 1947 contract providing a wage increase of 13 cents an hour for 10,800 employees of the Philadelphia Transportation company was signed today by the PTC and Local 234 of the Transport Workers Union (CIO). The agreement will run until Feb. 10, 1948. Present wage schedules and original union demands were not announced.

ing time and time spent in preliminary activities, the employer failed to maintain accurate records;

THAT the plaintiffs, as well as other employees, spent an average of 40 minutes a day in preliminary activities and in walking time for which they were not compensated.

THAT all employees are thereby entitled to be paid at the rate of time and one-half for those hours spent in excess of 40 hours during all work weeks since the effective date of the (Fair Labor Standards) act of 1938.

In his motion for more definite statement of particulars, Prince seeks information regarding "what preliminary duties the plaintiffs were required to perform, an approximation of what constitutes 'considerable distances' and the amount of time spent in 'preliminary activities,' as distinguished from 'walking time.'

His motion also seeks a breakdown of the 40 minutes daily for which the plaintiffs claim they were not compensated.

Prince claims the clause in the plaintiff's bill providing for the payment of time and one-half be paid for those hours spent in excess of 40 during all the work weeks since the effective date of the act should be set aside by the court, since "said language constitutes the mere legal conclusion of the pleaders unsupported by the averments from which such conclusions can be drawn."

day to day, without regard to narrow political considerations, what seems to me to be best for the welfare of all our people."

The President then blocked further questioning on the subject by saying that was all the answer he had to make to "Bert," as he called the reporter.

The Truman development came two hours after Senator Taft (R-OH) at a news conference in Columbus, O., refused to deny that he would be a candidate for his party's presidential nomination.

Taft said today no agreement had been reached for Senator Bricker (R-OH) to withdraw from the presidential picture in his favor. Bricker previously had said he did not intend to make any statement on the subject today, tomorrow or this week.

Mr. Truman, replying to a question why the Democrats were holding Jefferson Day dinners this year in April instead of the customary Jackson Day rallies in January, said it made no difference.

It accomplishes the same purpose, he added, starting a roar of laughter.

"Do you mean there is no difference between Jeffersonian and Jacksonian democracy?"

"Not a bit," Mr. Truman replied. He also gave his news conference this week on other matters:

1. With Congress preparing to slash his budget, he considers his $37,000,000 requests essential for safe operations and endorsed uncritically the statement of Secretary of War Patterson, promising any cuts in defense estimates.

2. He has not yet chosen a new ambassador to Britain following the sudden death of O. Max Gardner just before sailing. But in reply to specific questions he said Edwin W. Pauley, Secretary of the Navy, Forrestal, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton and John Nicholas Brown, assistant secretary of the Navy, are not under consideration. He added that he needs Forrestal and Eisenhower in their present posts.

3. In a few days on the question of extending the draft, now due to expire March 31.

DIARY RECORDS —

Morgenthau wrote Snyder, he gave specific written instructions that his papers be re-examined to make sure that no official documents were included among them.

His principal purpose in assembling the diary, Morgenthau said, was to comply with the late President Roosevelt's request that such material be compiled by his cabinet officers, and others, to become part of the Franklin D. Roosevelt library.

Morgenthau told Snyder, he never had any intention of making any profit out of anything he wrote as a result of his experience as a public official.

obliterated by the effects of toxic poisoning."

Referring to the importance of labor-management conferences, Dr. Millward, a lecturer at Bucknell College, Lewisburg, declared that "in favor of man's right to stop work and go home unmolested with the inroads made on him, that he also have the right to work unmolested, if he so desires."

A director of Rotary International, Dr. Millward congratulated the local club on its birthday and paid tribute to the late Paul Harris, of Chicago, founder of Rotary International in 1905.

Charles J. Custer, the only charter member of the Pottstown Rotary now active, was in charge of the anniversary program. Himself a past president, he recognized the remaining past presidents: Fred T. Cadmus, Edward S. Frez, Irvin W. Pierer, C. S. Stouffer, E. D. Gudebrod, H. S. Eades, C. Allyn Brown, Larry E. Orrell, Edward Gruber, Andrew E. Vaughan, Charles Goehmann, Oliver Christman, Harry Messmer and Franklin Wenzel.

Cadmus and Frez, now honorary members, were honored as being charter members of the club.

The Pottstown Rotary club was formed Feb. 14, 1918, with 34 charter members. Three past presidents: John R. Briggs, Andrew E. Vaughan, Sr. and Jesse R. Evans, have died since the 25th anniversary of the club in 1943.

Rent Boost Would Hurt Industrial Peace, AFL President Tells Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor through its president, William Green, today opposed any change in present rent controls until June 30, 1948.

To grant any blanket rent increase now, Green told a Senate banking subcommittee in a letter, "would have an extremely disturbing effect on wages and present a real threat to industrial peace."

"An across the board increase would be an open invitation to disruption of industrial relations which have been proceeding satisfactorily."

Sub Committee Chairman Buck R-Del. has forecast that his five-man group probably will favor increasing rents 10 or 15 percent.

Without reaching a vote, the subcommittee heard today from Sen. Hawley (R-N.J.) who advocates an increase up to 15 percent, and Sen. O'Daniel (D-Tex.) who favors wiping out price and rent control altogether. It will hear Tuesday from sponsors of other rent control bills.

Hawley, co-author with four other Republican senators of a bill which also would decontrol new housing, offered the subcommittee an amendment which would require action within 30 days on petitions for hardship rent increases or evictions.

"There certainly is no justification, under the present conditions of an acute housing shortage, to relieve the hardship of a very small minority of landlords by a method which would enable a great majority of them to exact from tenants a profit far in excess of any profit previously earned."

Any needed changes could be made by an Administrative order upon showing of necessity by the landlord, Green declared.

Senator Taylor (D-Idaho), a member of the subcommittee which is handling rent control legislation, said meanwhile that Congress should provide for dealing "expeditiously" with landlord hardship cases.

This might require both specific directives and the price control law and providing sufficient personnel to do the job, he told a reporter.

Taylor said he opposes a general increase in rents.

Tenth Grade Pupils To Present Drama

"Winter Sunset," a drama by Robert Brome, will be presented at 12:40 p.m. today by students of the tenth grade biology classes in Boyertown High school at the weekly student assembly.

Participating in the play are Anna Jane Sliomaker, who plays Mrs. Elizabeth Andrews, a faded old woman; Phillip West, Bill Andrews, Mrs. Andrew's son, a young and promising doctor just out of college; Joan Moyer, who portrays Bill's wife, and Richard Weiss, who plays the average small-time doctor.

In addition to the play, Henry Johnson and Eugene Johnson will play a cornet duet, "Twin Sisters," by Williams, accompanied at the piano by Teresa Keyser. Russell Renninger will present a piano solo, "Clair de Lune," by Debussy. The student body will join in singing three popular songs.

Barri Fisher will announce the program. Stage managers are James Carrington and Foster Del Grossi. Winifred Y. Moyer, science teacher, is sponsor.

School Head Grim Receives Valentine; Many Cards Mailed

St. Valentine will reign in Boyertown today, as he will all over the country.

In fact, for several days now, his presence has been felt. Boys and girls of junior high school age were entertained in the YMCA rooms on East Philadelphia Avenue last night at a party. Valentine boxes in numerous rooms in the High School were opened yesterday afternoon and revealed the insuring variety as well as tender missives of love.

Lawrence E. Grim, High school principal, received a lovely token of loyalty from friends at noon yesterday. In a large box was a beautiful valentine, including what looked like an actual photo of St. Valentine himself. The valentine was inscribed with a message of appreciation.

Teachers were entertained at tea by a home economics class in their high school yesterday afternoon.

Assisting were Fern Heffner, Fay Rhoads, Grace Beiler, Betty Miller, Betty Reinert, Patsy Mathews, Pauline Weidner, and Esther Hunt. Mrs. Martha G. Christmas, home economics teacher, has charge of the class.

Girls of Tri-Hi-Y were observed after school painting a giant red heart which will be used as an entrance through which dancers will pass tomorrow night when the club sponsors its Heart Dance in the BHS gym at 8:30 o'clock. The high school jazz band will play.

Kindergarten children will even observe the day with special parties during morning and afternoon sessions. And as usual the real hero of the day will be the local mailmen—Gordon Bahr and Lloyd Taoor—who will labor long and hard to deliver missives of love—and in some cases, the not-too-complimentary variety, too.

Churches to Celebrate World Day of Prayer

The annual World Day of Prayer will be observed in Boyertown next Friday, Feb. 21, at 7:45 p.m. in Church of the Good Shepherd, Evangelical and Reformed. The Rev. Harper L. Schreck, pastor of the host church, will deliver the sermon. Other congregations in Boyertown will participate.

The first rehearsal of the club play, to be held in the Spring, will be on February 25. The play committee chairmen were announced and tickets will be available at the March meeting.

The club voted to send its president, Mrs. Blair Miller as a delegate to the General Federation of Women's Clubs convention, to be held in New York City from June 23 to 28.

Borough Services Described by Wells At Officials' School

Fire and police protection, public works and the board of education were subjects discussed last night by Borough Solicitor C. Edmund Wells at the school of instruction sponsored by the Montgomery County Borouhns association.

Municipal officials of Pottstown, Collegeville, Trappe, Royersford, Pennsboro and East Greenville attended the session at borough hall.

Wells praised the volunteer fire department system, claiming volunteer firemen are capable and as a rule better equipped with apparatus than paid departments of larger communities.

In speaking of fire apparatus being operated to the scene of a fire, he said drivers may pass through red traffic signals. The same is true of police cars when officers are on special calls.

In speaking of the police, he praised the idea of a pension fund and said the Pottstown police pension fund now totals more than $30,000. Police are under the direction of the burgess but under civil service laws policemen may not be dismissed without hearings following which they may appeal to the county courts.

While the State highways in boroughs must be maintained by the State, the local police must see that the State laws are obeyed as well as the borough ordinances. He said State police and county detectives also aid in enforcing State laws.

Regarding State highway streets, the boroughs must remove snow deposits and also keep them clean and sanitary.

The fire chief can arrest anyone at a fire provided the offense is obstructing the work of the firemen. Fire police have no special privileges unless they are in their own bailiwick.

Boroughs are responsible for giving their residents fire protection. Wells praised the fire companies of this borough and said their equipment is of the best type.

Security Council Lays Plans For World-Wide Arms Slice

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 13 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council today formally set up basic machinery for program of world-wide arms reduction and immediately plunged into general debate on a separate plan for international control of atomic energy.

The vote on the resolution establishing an 11-nation commission for conventional armaments was 10 to 0 with Russia abstaining.

Andrei A. Gromiko, Soviet delegate and deputy foreign minister, indicated, however, to reporters after the meeting that Russia would go along with the new arms plan despite his refusal to vote. He said Russia had suggested the arms body and had objected to the final resolution only over lines of relationship with the atomic energy commission.

The final ballot clinched a sweeping United States victory which became apparent in a preliminary test yesterday when the Soviet Union refused to press its objections as far as to cast a negative vote.

Warren R. Austin, American delegate, and Gromiko had argued for weeks over United States insistence the problem of atomic control be kept outside the new arms body.

All members of the council—Russia, United States, Great Britain, France, China, Poland, Australia, Syria, Brazil, Colombia and Belgium—will have seats on the arms commission which will deal with all machinery of war except the atomic bomb and weapons of mass destruction.

The same nations, plus Canada, have seats on the U. N. atomic energy commission.

The arms resolution also made provision for early consideration of two inter-linked problems—atomic control and an international military force.

I said specifically that the council should consider "as soon as possible" the long-hanging report of the atomic energy commission and the delegates complied here by opening general atomic debate within two minutes after the arms vote.

Prompt consideration of the atomic report, which includes all the basic principles laid down by Bernard M. Baruch in its original summary, was in effect another victory for the United States in its determined drive to bring a decision on the question.

After six months of discussion, the atomic report was adopted without opposition within the atomic commission but Russia and Poland abstained on the vote and it had been on the council table six weeks without action.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, of Canada, who was invited to join the council's atomic discussions, touched off the debate with a request for a frank statement from Russia and Poland on any reservations they might have on the report.

Gromiko then spoke up to say that he would ready with a statement at the council's next meeting tomorrow at 3 p. m. (Pottstown time).

Navy Planes Crash; Both Pilots Rescued

CEDAR POINT, Md., Feb. 13 (AP)—Two planes from the Navy's Patuxent River station crashed on separate missions over Chesapeake Bay this afternoon but both pilots escaped injury. One plane crashed in the water and the pilot was taken aboard a fishing boat.

The air station's public relations office listed the pilots as Lt. J. M. Thomas, Chicago, and Maj. C. E. Kollman, USMC, Hubbard, O.

Thomas was flying a P-80 jet fighter when he encountered trouble as he maneuvered and crashed hard on a stretch of beach on Deal Island, on Maryland's Eastern Shore across the bay from the air station. He walked away from his ship and the base here sent a helicopter to pick him up.

The Navy said he was on an operational flight simulating an air attack on ships maneuvering in the Atlantic.

Maj. Kollman piloted a new-type torpedo bomber on a test flight and crashed into the bay off Sharpe Island about 60 miles north and opposite Cambridge, Md.

Reports to the Coast Guard at Norfolk, Va., said he was taken aboard a fishing boat and picked up later by a Navy amphibian from Annapolis which landed beside the vessel.

In normal times, more than 150 passenger trains operate daily across the Mexican or Canadian borders of the United States.

Taft and Bricker Steering Clear of Nomination Claim

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 13 (AP)—Ohio's two United States senators ate lunch together today after a score of the state's 100 Republicans and gave no answer to whether the junior would bow to the senior as a candidate for their party's presidential nomination. "I 1948,"

The junior, John W. Bricker of Columbus, reportedly gave the luncheon for the senior Robert A. Taft, of Cincinnati, to introduce him to the new Ohio Republican administration. Bricker said only pending congressional legislation was discussed, and Capitol observers summed up the situation as follows:

Both are potential candidates for the Republican presidential nomination.

Neither has made any specific announcement whether he will or will not be a candidate.

Both consider the time inappropriate to make a specific declaration one way or the other.

Either will be a candidate if the other is not.

Taft, who is considered the most likely to be a candidate, will have Bricker's support if he does enter the race.

Should Taft decline to be a candidate, Bricker then would announce himself and receive Taft's support.

Until Taft announces his candidacy, Bricker is giving a luncheon for his colleague, gave public notice that their relations are most cordial and that there will be no contest between them for control of the Ohio delegation.

Neither has said he would not become a candidate at some later date.

Taft said today he felt that with the national convention 16 months away it was too soon to discuss presidential politics.

The vote on the resolution establishing an 11-nation "commission for conventional armaments" was 10 to 0 with Russia abstaining.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate and deputy foreign minister, indicated, however, to reporters after the meeting that Russia would go along with the new arms plan despite his refusal to vote. He said Russia had suggested the arms body had objected to the final resolution only over lines of relationship with the atomic energy commission.

The final ballot clinched a sweeping United States victory which became apparent in a preliminary test yesterday when the Soviet Union refused to press its objections as far as to cast a negative vote.

Warren R. Austin, American delegate, and Gromyko had argued for weeks over United States insistence on the problem of atomic control be kept outside the new arms body.

All members of the council—Russia, United States, Great Britain, France, China, Poland, Australia, Syria, Brazil, Colombia and Belgium—will have seats on the arms commission which will deal with all machinery of war except the atomic bomb and weapons of mass destruction.

The same nations, plus Canada, have seats on the U. N. atomic energy commission.

The arms resolution also made provision for early consideration of two inter-linked problems—atomic control and an international military force.

It said specifically that the council should consider "as soon as possible" the long-hanging report of the atomic energy commission and the delegates complied here by opening general atomic debate within two minutes after the arms vote.

Prompt consideration of the atomic report, which includes all the basic principles laid down by Bernard M. Baruch in its original summary, was in effect another victory for the United States in its determined drive to bring a decision on the question.

After six months of discussion, the atomic report was adopted without opposition within the atomic commission but Russia and Poland abstained on the vote and it had been on the council table six weeks without action.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, of Canada, who was invited to join the council's atomic discussions, touched off the debate with a request for a frank statement from Russia and Poland on any reservations they might have on the report.

Gromyko then spoke up to say that he would be ready with a statement at the council's next meeting tomorrow at 3 p. m. (Pottstown time).

Navy Planes Crash; Both Pilots Rescued

CEDAR POINT, Md., Feb. 13 (AP)—Two planes from the Navy's Patuxent River air station crashed on separate missions over Chesapeake bay this afternoon but both pilots escaped injury. One plane crashed in the water and the pilot was taken aboard a fishing boat.

The air station's public relations office listed the pilots as Lt. J. M. Thomas, Chicago, and Maj. C. E. Kollman, USMC, Hubbard, O.

Thomas was flying a P-80 jet fighter when he encountered trouble as yet undetermined and crash landed on a stretch of beach on Deal Island, on Maryland's Eastern shore across the bay from the air station. He walked away from his ship and the base here sent a helicopter to pick him up.

The Navy said he was on an operational flight simulating an air attack on ships maneuvering in the Atlantic.

Major Kollman piloted a new-type torpedo bomber on a test flight and crashed into the bay off Sharpe Island, about 60 miles north and opposite Cambridge, Md.

Reports to the Coast Guard at Norfolk, Va., said he was taken aboard a fishing boat and picked up later by a Navy Amphibian from Annapolis, which landed beside the Erie Municipal golf course.

GEN. M'MILLAN LEADS BRITISH IN PALESTINE

Troops Extend Security; Haifa Harbor Explosion Sinks Government Boat

JERUSALEM, Feb. 13 (AP)—The military clamped the most rigid security restrictions yet invoked on Jerusalem today as Maj. Gen. G. H. A. McMillan assumed his new post as commander in chief of British forces in Palestine and "Trans-Jordan."

British troops put into full effect the new cantonment of the Holy City into four barbed wire-enclosed security compounds, where limited restrictions had prevailed for the past week. The Tommies checked traffic every few blocks.

A fresh outbreak of violence preceded the arrival of Gen. McMillan from Cairo. Two small explosions in Haifa harbor before dawn sank a small government launch and damaged a police barge.

Isthal Birli, 35, a Jew kidnapped in a fight between Arabs and Jews at Bnai Geulim last night, was released six hours later, severely beaten. The fight stemmed from long-standing dispute over grazing rights. Five Arabs were arrested in connection with the abduction.

Three other kidnapings were reported from unofficial sources last night in skirmishes between Jewish extremists and moderate elements in the Holy Land.

Mrs. Helen Friedman, sister of Dov Bala Gruner, Irgun Zvai Leumi member under sentence of death, arrived from Lancaster, Pa., in her dramatic flight almost half way around the world to intercede for her brother. Mrs. Friedman had delayed in her travel by bad weather.

No organization or person had suggested her trip, she said.

"I just wanted to come and see if I could help my brother. It was my own idea and I had to borrow the money to make the trip."

Mr. Friedman planned to appear tomorrow to Lt. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, the Palestine high commissioner, to save her brother from the gallows.

One of the last acts of Lt. Gen. Sir Evelyn Barker as British commander was to postpone the execution of Gruner, pending an appeal to Britain's supreme court, the privy council.

Should Taft decline to be a candidate, Bricker then would announce himself and receive Taft support.

Until Taft announces his candidacy, Bricker in giving a luncheon for his colleague gave public notice that their relations are most cordial and that there will be no contest between them for control of the Ohio delegation.

Neither has said he would not become a candidate at some later date.

Taft said today he felt that with the national convention 16 months away it was too soon to discuss presidential politics.

BRAZILIAN ASKS GOVERNMENT TO OUTLAW REDS

Communist Program Opposes Democracy, Public Prosecutor Says

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Feb. 15 (AP)—Acting public prosecutor Alceu Barbado asked the supreme electoral tribunal today to outlaw the Communist party of Brazil, largest Communist organization in the Western Hemisphere, which scored sweeping successes in the past month's state and municipal elections.

Barbedo alleged in a 27-page petition that the party practiced a secret code and was unconstitutional because its program of action was contrary to democracy and because of its fidelity to the teachings of Marx, Engels and Lenin.

The petition brought to a climax a year-long effort of the government of President Eurico Gaspar Dutra to fight legal Communism.

Despite the president's appeal to the public in the recent elections to vote against the Communists, the Communists polled about 800,000 votes, elected Brazil's largest state, Sao Paulo, where they elected a governor and two senators, won a plurality of Rio de Janeiro's city council and scored successes in several other local and state races.

If the supreme electoral tribunal, presided over by Chief Justice Jose Linhares, rules against the Communists, the elected Communists are expected to serve out their terms but they will be men without a legal party.

Citing a section of Brazil's new constitution which forbids political parties "whose program or action is contrary to a democratic regime based on a plurality of parties and a guarantee of the fundamental rights of man," the petition declared the Communists claimed to advocate democracy but in reality sought to overthrow the present government and set up a one-party regime.

The petition cited the writings of founders of the Communist international movement and said it was impossible to reconcile communist ideology with democratic practice.

Declaring the party was bound by a set of secret "duplicity statutes," the petition said official rules of the party as filed with the electoral tribunal number only 38, but that Communist party members have been expelled under Regulation No. 45.

The fact that the party is headed by a "secretary General," Luis Carlos Prestes, instead of by a president like other Brazilian parties, was cited as evidence that "there exists some higher authority abroad."

The petition said Brazil held no ill will against the symbol of the hammer and sickle as the "national banner of Russia, a country at whose side Brazil fought in the war" but use of the same symbol as a party banner within Brazil was contrary to the principles of the Brazilian government.

A decision on the action was expected in about a month.

Offers to Quit in Talmadge Row

Pictured at work in his office at the Baptist church in McRae, Ga., is the Rev. Joseph A. Rabun, pastor of the church and former Navy chaplain. The fact that the church is attended by Legislative-appointed Ed Governor Herman Talmadge did not stop the pastor from openly criticizing the Talmadge-sponsored white primary legislation. The Rev. Rabun offered to resign after 11 of the church deacons wired Talmadge that Rabun's opposition to the white primary bill does not reflect their opinions. No action has been taken by the congregation.

Indiana Divorcee Murdered; Police Seek Former Husband

COLUMBUS, Ind., Feb. 13 (AP)—Through a 17-year-old son upon whom he had lavished gifts, authorities today sought to trace David Edman Sr., 40-year-old retired inventor and electrical contractor whose pretty divorced wife was shot to death early this morning on the front porch of her father's home in the little town of Ogleville, about eight miles southwest of Columbus.

Sheriff Richard Thayer said the slain woman's father, Nathan Clark, told him Edman came to the Clark home armed with a shotgun and shot Mrs. Edman when she opened the front door in response to Edman's insistent knocking. She was 38 years old.

Clark is in a hospital here with wounds in the right arm and right shoulder that he said were inflicted by his son-in-law after the killing of his daughter. Mrs. Edman was shot in the neck.

Edman's son, David Jr., was found in Columbus by city patrolmen several hours after the shooting and taken to police headquarters. State police said he told them reluctantly that he had taken his father to Henderson, Ky., by automobile and had returned to Columbus unaware that his mother had been slain.

Kentucky State and local patrolmen established "road blocks" around Henderson and reported they were searching vehicles. Authorities in Henderson also reported homes and rooming houses were being checked.

Investigating officers said neighbors in Ogleville described the elder Edman as a "fabulous character" who gave his son two airplanes, an automobile, a motorcycle and a six-room house. The family returned to Ogleville two years ago after living several years in Winston-Salem, N. C. Edman was reputed to have become wealthy as a war contractor and an inventor of electrical devices.

Walter Kirchof, Arch and Cedar streets, Spring City, was reported resting comfortably in Phoenixville hospital yesterday, following an accident in which he broke both his legs at his home Wednesday afternoon.

Employed in Philadelphia, he remained at home Wednesday, because of Lincoln's birthday, and observed the holiday by helping workmen engaged in converting his home into apartments.

While moving wall boards from the front porch into the home, the pile, about a ton, fell and pinned Kirchof against the wall. His sister, Olga, who was helping him, narrowly escaped a similar fate, but did suffer abrasions.

Dr. C. E. Moser treated the injured man and ordered him removed to the hospital.

Chicago Artists' Representative Selects Five as Having Ten Best Legs in America

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13 (AP)—The bouncing blonde Betty Grable today said thanks for the latest honor to her legs, and if the experts say they are robust—"well, he must be right."

"Personally, I don't believe they are," Betty said wryly. "Matter of fact, a lot of people have called them skinny."

Miss Grable was one of five young women pictured by Barry Stephen, Chicago artists' representative, as having the ten best legs in America. He observed: "Apparently today's males want to look at illustrations of five foot, 10 inch tall women, whose calves measure almost 12 inches thick, and with long thighs 14 to 16 inches around."

Miss Grable, who is five feet four inches and weighs 120 pounds, said she didn't know her gams' dimensions, but was sure they weren't that thick, even her studio didn't have her calf and thigh sizes on record beyond "very shapely."

Betty summarized: "I've given my legs much thought. I've other things to worry about."

Alice Faye said it was "Oh, fine—no kidding," to learn she was at the top of Stephen's list. She ran to get a tape measure—her husband,

Phil Harris, said he had never seen her move so fast—and came back with these measurements:

Angle, 7 inches; calf, 22 inches; thigh, almost 17 inches.

The latter two figures are pretty close to Stephen's specifications.

"This is a steel tape and hard to use, and cold," Alice said. "I don't know which part of the thigh he means, but if it's where the leg is filled out the most, he's pretty close."

Ann Miller could not be reached. She was on the list with Flora Sturt, dancer, and Beryl Davis, English singer, said to be there.

When the glow of Christmas wanes and the youngsters go back to their old loved possessions, it's a good idea to put away some of the new toys received. Store them on the closet shelf and bring them out on special occasions, perhaps when a child has to be in bed for a few days with a cold. That way they will have something new and interesting for play and won't tire of the toys so quickly.

UAW 644 Rallies To Defeat Amvets As Roth's Triumph

KUTZTOWN HIGH PLAYS HOST TO BOYERTOWN FOE

Amity Travels to Take on Fleetwood In League Tussle

Coach Bob Fleming and his Boyertown Bears pack up the equipment and travel to Kutztown tonight for a game with Kutztown High School in the Northern Division of the Berks County League. A junior varsity game is scheduled for 7:15 o'clock.

In other league tilts tonight, Amity goes to Fleetwood and Oley and Hamburg clash at Hamburg.

Fleming's charges turned back North Coventry the last time out by a 50-32 score and tonight will be looking for their third straight win. The last league game the Bears played, Oley fell under the Boyertown fire as the Bears held on to a tie for second place with eight.

For Boyertown tonight Bob Reindauer and Bruce Bernhart will start at forwards with Dick Campbell holding down the pivot spot. Dick Schott and Vic Putzman will be at guards.

Amity High's fast moving cagers have made a good showing this year and are fighting it out with Boyertown for second place in the league standings. Hamburg has already clinched the league title and can coast in the rest of the way.

Amity has handed Boyertown two defeats this year and will try to make it three straight over Fleetwood tonight. A junior varsity game is scheduled to get underway at 7:15 o'clock on the Fleetwood boards between the Amity and Fleetwood junior varsity quintets.

Trojan Swimmers Meet Norristown At County Seat

Coach Cr. Yocom's Pottstown High school swimming team will try to get back on the victory trail today when the Trojans travel to meet Norristown High school at Norristown. The meet is scheduled to start at 3:30 o'clock.

The Trojans have dropped their last two meets and now have a record of five wins and three losses. Yocom's swimmers have defeated Allentown, Hazleton, Edystone, Upper Darby, and Avondale while losing to Allentown, Lancaster and Coatesville.

Crisler Gives Up Plan To Leave Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 13 (P)—A University of Michigan's rumor-prodded worries concerning the possible loss of athletic director Herbert O. (Pritz) Crisler vanished today when Crisler announced at a press conference that he had given up any plans to accept a similar post at the University of California.

Crisler, whose Michigan football teams have won 61 games, lost 16 and tied three in nine years here, said he had turned down a small salary increase to remain at Michigan, where he earns approximately $13,500 a year. Reports that California would have paid him as much as $20,000 were described by Crisler as "fantastic."

LOCALS SEEK 7TH VICTORY IN SECTION 3

Coach Ed Good Stands Pat on Starting Team For Tonight's Contest

Two important Section Three tilts are in the offering tonight as Coach Ed Good's Pottstown High school basketball quintet travels to meet Downingtown High on the latter's court.

League leading Coatesville plays host to an improved West Chester team which will be seeking revenge after a 48-40 setback earlier in the season.

The league is strictly a two team race between the Red Raiders and the Trojans with all other teams eliminated.

Pottstown defeated Downingtown, 30-32, in the first meeting of the two squads and will be hoping to repeat the performance tonight.

Good will have his team at top strength for tonight's swing and plans to start Tom Weber and Stanley Stolarz at forwards with Claude Reinhardt at center. Dave Detar and Bobby Martz will open up at the guard slots.

Downingtown will depend heavily on Dick Daigle and Danny Barrow to bring a victory to the Yellow and Blue.

Coach Bill McCabe's Baby Trojans, currently leading the Section Three junior varsity race with seven straight triumphs, will engage the Downingtown seconds in the preliminary contest at 7:15 o'clock.

McCabe will start Brown Yerger and John Celani at forwards. Celani will replace Don Ziegler who is on the injured list with a foot infection. Howard Kinloch will hold down the center's berth and Danny Ludwig and George Rath will be at guards.

A victory tonight for the McCabe men would be another step toward Pottstown's fourth straight junior varsity title.

In another loop fray, Phoenixville plays host to Berwyn High.

In the other league game scheduled for last night, First Baptist forfeited to First Methodist-St. Peter's. The Baptist team didn't have enough players to put a team on the floor giving the First Methodist St. Peter's its fourth victory.

Faced by Bob Leveille who tallied eight points, the Emmanuel team came back from a first period 7-4 deficit to St. James at halftime, 8-8. The winners then matched the St. James five point for point for points in the third frame before clinching the tassel in the final eight minutes by adding nine more points while the losers were only scoring seven.

KUTZTOWN HIGH PLAYS HOST TO BOYERTOWN FOE

Amity Travels to Take on Fleetwood In League Tussle

Coach Bob Fleming and his Boyertown Bears pack up the equipment and travel to Kutztown tonight for a game with Kutztown High school in the Northern Division of the Berks County league. A junior varsity game is scheduled for 7:15 o'clock.

In other league tilts tonight, Amity goes to Fleetwood and Oley and Hamburg clash at Hamburg.

Fleming's charges turned back North Coventry the last time out by a 50-32 score and tonight will be looking for their third straight win. The last league game the Bears played, Oley fell under the Boyertown five as the Bears held on to a tie for second place with them.

For Boyertown tonight, Bob Reidauer and Bruce Bernhart will start at forwards with Dick Campbell holding down the pivot spot. Dick Schott and Vic Prutzman will be at guards.

Amity High's fast moving cagers have made a good showing this year and are fighting it out with Boyertown for second place in the league standings. Hamburg has already clinched the league title and can coast in the rest of the way.

Amity has handed Boyertown two defeats this year and will try to make it two straight over Fleetwood tonight. A junior varsity game is scheduled to get underway at 7:15 o'clock on the Fleetwood boards between the Amity and Fleetwood junior varsity quintets.

Trojan Swimmers Meet Norristown At County Seat

Coach Cy Yocom's Pottstown High school swimming team will try to get back on the victory trail today when the Trojans travel to meet Norristown High school at Norristown. The meet is scheduled to start at 3:30 o'clock.

The Trojans have dropped their last two meets and now have a record of five wins and three losses. Yocom's tankmen have defeated Allentown, Hazleton, Eddystone, Upper Darby and Abington while losing to Allentown, Lancaster and Coatesville.

Crisler Gives Up Plan To Leave Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 13 (AP)—A University of Michigan's rumor-prodded worries concerning the possible loss of athletic director Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler vanished today when Crisler announced at a press conference that he had given up any plans to accept a similar post at the University of California.

Crisler, whose Michigan football teams have won 61 games, lost 16 and tied three in nine years here, said he had turned down a small salary increase to remain at Michigan, where he earns approximately $13,500 a year. Reports that California would have paid him as much as $20,000 were described by Crisler as "fantastic."

Coach Ed Good Stands Pat on Starting Team For Tonight's Contest

Two important Section Three tilts are in the offering tonight as Coach Ed Good's Pottstown High school basketball quintet travels to meet Downingtown High on the latter's court.

League leading Coatesville plays host to an improved West Chester team which will be seeking revenge for a 48-40 setback earlier in the season.

The league is strictly a two team race between the Red Raiders and the Trojans with all other teams eliminated.

Pottstown defeated Downingtown, 50-32, in the first meeting of the two squads and will be hoping to repeat the performance tonight.

Good will have his team at top strength for tonight's shindig and plans to start Tom Weber and Stanley Stolar at forwards with Claude Reinhart at center, Dave Detar and Bobby Martz will open up at the guard slots.

Downingtown will depend heavily on Dick Dague and Danny Barrow to bring a victory to the Yellow and Blue.

Coach Bill McCabe's Baby Trojans, currently leading the Section Three junior varsity race with seven straight triumphs, will engage the Downingtown seconds in the preliminary contest at 7:15 o'clock.

McCabe will start Brower Yerger and John Celani at forwards. Celani will replace Don Ziegler who is on the injured list with a foot infection. Howard Kinloch will hold down the center's berth and Danny Ludwig and George Rath will be at guards.

A victory tonight for the McCabemen would be another step toward Pottstown's fourth straight junior varsity title.

In another loop fray, Phoenixville plays host to Berwyn High.
